In a nutshell

weekly plan: $ 572

biweekly plan = $ 286

26 weeks of produce and eggs – from beginning to end of farmers market (begins one week after, ends one week before)

“vacation weeks” -- weeks where you skip the CSA -- lower your price by $22 per week.

Please be sure to let us know your email address with the form below, or when you make payment so we can stay in touch.

Thank you for your interest in Mudcollege Farm’s Community-supported agriculture (CSA) program! By committing to a weekly or bi-weekly selection of our organic produce and pasture-raised non-gmo fed eggs you play a crucial role in sustainable food systems, environmental stewardship, and supporting our local economy.

How does this work?

Customers buy "shares" of Mudcollege Farm's harvest in advance and then receive a weekly portion of the crops and eggs as we harvest them, throughout the season. The amount of produce and eggs will be greater than or equal to $22/week. At our two staffed locations, you will have the option to substitute one item for an item indicated as “CSA choice” Please bring last week’s bag or another labeled bag to your pickup site (if you forget we have plenty of paper bags), so that we can repack it for the following week.

Share descriptions

We load up a bag of fresh, certified organic and sustainably grown produce for you to pick up. You have the option to include one half dozen pasture-raised non-gmo fed eggs or you can choose an extra veggie of similar price at our staffed locations.

Example share:

- 3 cucumbers (certified organic)
- 1 bag lettuce spring mix (certified organic)
- 1 bell pepper (certified organic)
- 1 Lb potatoes (certified organic)
- 1 box cherry tomatoes (certified organic)
- 1 dozen or 1/2 dozen non-GMO fed pastured brown eggs

The following is a list of produce that we will be packing in your CSA this year:

- Certified Organic: arugula, asparagus, basil, green bean, beet, brassica salad mix, broccoli, broccoli raab, napa cabbage, cabbage, cantaloupe, carrot, cauliflower, swiss chard, bok choy, cilantro, sweet corn, cucumber, dill, eggplant, fennel, garlic, kale, kohlrabi, leek, head lettuce, lettuce mix, okra, onions, parsley, snap peas, snow peas, bell pepper, jalepeno pepper, lunchbox pepper, poblano pepper, potatoes, sweet potato, pumpkin, radishes, scallions, shallot, spinach, acorn squash, butternut squash, delicata squash, spaghetti squash, summer squash, zucchini squash, heirloom tomato, slicer tomato, turnips, watermelon, strawberry
- Organically grown (not certified) by Mudcollege Farm: pear, plum
- During blueberry season we are maintaining and harvesting blueberries from our neighbors across the street at Mount Joy Berry Farm

- We also sometimes supplement with organically grown produce from our friends at Weaving Roots Farm (New Oxford, PA), Hundredfold Farm (Orrtanna, PA), and Summer Creek Farm (Thurmont, MD). No spray asian pears and nuts from Tom J. (Gettysburg), and conventionally grown fruit from Hannah H. (Cashtown, PA). When we are short on eggs we supplement with our neighbors David B.'s eggs, which are raised in similar conditions.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: How do I sign up

A: Sign up online at mudcollege.com/csa – after you submit this form, I will contact you with payment instructions

Q: What can I do when I am unable to pickup my share at my normal time/place?

A: If you are unable to make it on the day of your normal pickup, please let us know – we will store your share at our on-farm cooler and you can come help yourself/pick it up when you are able. We also store all shares not picked up in our cooler until at least the next CSA day (e.g., if you are a Saturday pickup and you forget to come to market, it will be stored in the cooler until at least the next Tuesday).

If you are unable to pick up the week of your CSA (for example, you will be on vacation), you can pick up the following week (bi-weekly shares).

Q: If I choose a bi-weekly share when is my first week of pick up?

A: Bi-weekly shares may be assigned even or odd weeks semi-randomly. For example, half of the bi-weekly share members would begin pick ups on the first week of CSA, and half would begin the second week of the CSA. You will then pick up 2 weeks from your pickup week henceforth. We will contact all CSA members in May with their first pick up week.

Q: What can I do if I can no longer continue?

A: You may transfer your share to another person at your discretion. Just let us know, and they will be able to let us know their desired pickup place. We can also facilitate the donation of your share to a household in need.

Q: How can I get veggies and eggs November through April?

A: Come visit us out our popup locations at Mudcollege Farm and other farms and locations in Adams County. Our Fall/Winter/early-spring CSA covers the “dark months” – please contact farmer@mudcollege.com for more info.

Q: How can I get more of your veggies? “I really liked the Okra, but I need more to make a good dish.”

A: Let us know and we can sometimes pack extra (pay later).

Q: I don't want eggs, can I get more veggies instead?

A: Yep, just select “no eggs” on the sign up form

Q: What about bags and containers?

A: You are welcome to provide a bag, we will try to refill this for your share. You can return it at the location where you pick up, and we will fill it for the following week. If we don't have a bag for you (or can't easily find it) we will fill up a paper bag – no prob. We also try to reuse clean containers, paper and plastic grocery bags, and egg cartons, which you can return to us.
